Database View
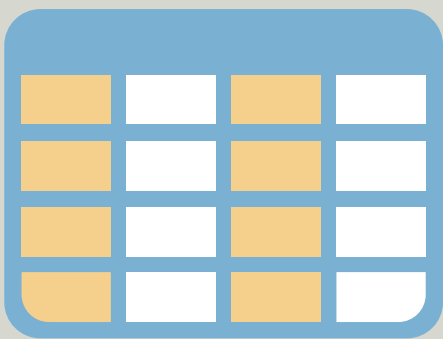

Database view is a virtual table that provides the result set of a pre-established query command.